

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
February 12, 2021

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT
Kim McCann / (715) 623-2356

'Eastview Elves' Help Residents Celebrate the Holidays
Johnson Electric Coil Employees Donate to Brighten the Season

Over the holidays this year, patients and residents at The Bay at Eastview Health and Rehabilitation Center got some help from some "Eastview's Elves" in making a difficult time of year due to the COVID-19 pandemic a little more special.

It all started when it became clear that Johnson Electric Coil Company employees were not going to be able to have the Christmas party that they normally do because of the need for social distancing, employees, their team started thinking about what they could do with the money that they normally spend.

"Everyone said, 'we all work and get paychecks, we get time off to see our families and we don't really need anything' so we asked ourselves 'who could we help instead?'" said Julie Berndt, Vice President of Operations of Johnson Electric Coil Company. "We chose Eastview because we knew COVID-19 restricted the residents from seeing family and visitors. We wanted to make sure they were not forgotten, particularly at Christmas. It was a unanimous decision to give to Eastview instead of taking it for ourselves."

Kim McCann, Director Community Outreach and Admissions at The Bay at Eastview Health and Rehabilitation Center said that the gift from Johnson Electric Coil Co. was critical to help the Center purchase unique and personal gifts for our residents including sweatshirts, socks, shirts, and favorite snacks and beverages this year.

"One of my favorite songs is 'Angels Among Us.' I believe there are angels among us sent down to us from somewhere up above. We have so many angels among us here in our small town," McCann said. "Christmas 2020 for our residents was extra special because of the Christmas Elves from Johnson Electric Coil Company. We are so blessed!"

McCann also offered a special thank you to Antigo resident and Eastview friend, Carol Engebretson, who along with her "Thirty-One" Businesses and friends provided adorable tote bags filled with stocking stuffers that were distributed to Eastview residents over the holidays this year.

729 Park Street
Antigo, WI 54409
(715) 623-2356
www.bay-eastview.com
Info@bay-eastview.com

Where Compassion and Healing Come Together.

“I am continuously amazed and humbled by the generosity and support The Bay at Eastview receives from our surrounding community. During the pandemic, our community members have demonstrated their commitment in assisting our employees and residents to stay ‘connected’ to our community,” said Wanda Hose, Administrator at The Bay at Eastview Health and Rehabilitation Center. “Whether it has been through a drive-by parade, food, gifts, phone calls, animal Christmas carolers, dog walk arounds, or kids playing outside they all help to bring joy to all of us. Santa and his family even did window visits! We greatly appreciate their support and couldn’t ask for a more caring community.”

The gifts certainly brightened the holidays for patients and residents at The Bay at Eastview.

“Thank you to the special elves who made these gifts possible,” said Lucy, a resident at Eastview. “As much as I would love to be home surrounded by my family, I am well taken care of care here at Eastview and spoiled some of my ‘helpers’ Wanda, Brenda, Kim, Raquelle, Administrator Britney – you mean the world to me.”

###

*729 Park Street
Antigo, WI 54409
(715) 623-2356
www.bay-eastview.com
Info@bay-eastview.com*

Where Compassion and Healing Come Together.